

BRISTOL – Leigh Court

New Business Start-Up programme now accepting clients!

- Are you thinking about starting a business using the professional skills, knowledge and experience built up over your career?
- Have you recently been made redundant, or are at risk of redundancy, from the public or private sector and are considering investing in self employment as your next step?

If so, Ready for Business could be for you!

This unique new business start-up programme offers potential start-up businesses the opportunity to get their business ready for success through proper investment.

We are holding introductory workshops in Bristol on the following dates, for anyone who is exploring the concept of self-employment or starting a business

This programme is brand new and places are limited so don't miss out on a great opportunity to get involved in this exciting initiative.

Please note that there are strict entry criteria for access to this programme and financial contribution will be required. A range of additional business support services are offered by the above organisation and a wider network so access to other support is almost certainly available if required.

Ready for Business is delivered by the Cavendish Consortium and a wider network of delivery organisations on behalf of the Department of Business, Innovation & Skills and its Regional Growth Fund initiative, with partner support from Barclays Bank.
